THE CITY COUNCIL LOCATES TWO NEW FIRE STATIONS.

IN THIRD AND FIFTH WARDS.

POP "SQUEEZING" COMMITTEE HOLD UP POLICEMEN AND OTHERS.

Victims of This Attempt to Raise Campaign Funds Threaten to Make Trouble-Probate Judge Herr Marries a Couple at Midnight.

Pursuant to a call issued by Mayor Marshman, the city council met in special session last night and decided upon sites for the two new fire stations to be established in this city. The new hose compa nies will be located in the Third and Fifth wards. The site chosen for the Third ward company is at the corner of Mill street and Quindaro boulevard. The contract price is 2300. The committee appointed to select the locations recommended a lot on North Seventh street, which Thomas Barker offered to sell for $400. Alderman Gilbert presented a bid on the Quindaro boulevard location, and the committee consented to accept this bid, as it was $100 less than the one suggested by the committee. The Fifth ward station will be located on thirty-seven feet of ground situated just north of the Riverview school house, on South Seventh street. The agreed price on this property is $750. The city engineer will be put to work at once drawing up plans and specifications for the two new buildings and as soon as this is completed and the plans accepted by the council, then the con tracts for the erection of the buildings will be let without delay.

It is the desire of the council to get the new fire stations completed as soon as possible, as there is scarcely a week passes that the need of additional fire fighting apparatus is not felt by the local department When the new hose companies are estab lished and placed in operation, Kansas City, Kas will have a fire department of its own, and will no longer be dependent upon the Missouri side department in case of a

The contract for furnishing the city rock pile with stone was let to Butler Jones and H. Upmoore. The city advertised for bids on 300 cubic yards of limestone, and Jones and Upmoore both agreed to furnish the same at 30 cents per cubic yard. They were given the contract jointly, each on to furnish 150 yards.

Case Yesterday. Ellioft Servor and Julia A. Servor, his wife, were arraigned before Judge Manning in police court yesterday morning on the charge of disturbing the peace of some of their neighbors. They live in Armourdale and about ten witnesses, all women, living in the Servor neighborhood, were present to testify against the defendants. It was simply a little neighborhood row, but the feeling that existed was very bitter.

Judge Manning allowed all of the wit-Judge Manning allowed all of the witnesses, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Servor, to relate their stories at length. The witnesses were all for the prosecution and a very strong case was being made against the defendants, who pleaded their own defense. Judge Manning listened to the testimony with a great deal of interest. When the prosecution seemed to have the case won, the defendants changed their line of defense and set up an argument that some of the witnesses who had testified against them were A. P. A.s and that it was a case of persecution and not prosecution. case of persecution and not prosecution. They were thereupon discharged and left the courtroom, highly pleased with their first attempt at the bar.

MARRIED AT MIDNIGHT.

A Belated Bridegroom Causes Probate Judge Herr to Miss the Last Car.

Walter Samuel and Maude Mitchell were united in marriage at the home of the bride in this city at midnight Monday by Probate Judge Herr. The marriage was to have been performed at 11 o'clock, but the groom was a little late in reaching the scene and the belis were ringing the midnight hour when Probate Judge Herr told the lovers to "stand up." The judge missed the last car home, but the groom paid him an extra fee for carriage hire. T. H. Scott, of Elmwood, Kas., and N. L.

This is the first ceremony Judge Alden has performed for some time, as he positively declines to compete with Judge Herr and Judge Plost in the matrimonial business. TOUCHING COMMITTEE PLANS. First Time Such an Innovation Har Been Attempted for Many Long Moons.

Long Moons.

The article in yesterday morning's Journal to the effect that the fusionists had appointed a "touching" committee and that this body proposed to assess every member of the police department from chief down to patrol driver to raise campaign money caused a great deal of comment among the members of the force and politicians in general. No other political party has ever resorted to such means in order to carry on a campaign. The only precedent was established by the Lewelling crowd during his reign in the state's executive chair. During his two years as governor the police and jointkeepers suffered allike. This year the fusion "touching" committee has decided to allow the jointkeepers to escape unless it becomes absolutely necessary to assess them.

Some of the central committeemen in discussing the advisability of assessing policemen raised the question regarding the few Republicans who were retained on the force on account of their efficiency as officers. One or two off the committeemen thought it would look a little off color to compel the Republicans to give up a portion of their wages for a fusion campaign fund. This brought a number of the committeemen to their feet in an instant. They argued that the Republicans holding jobs on the police force should be forced to contribute just the same as the administration men. A prominent Pop stated yesterday that any of the Republicans on the force who did not want to divide their salary could avoid doing so by handing in their resignations. He says there are plenty of Pops and fusion Democrats who will take their jobs and turn over their salary to the "touching" committee without any complaint whatever. The Republican members of the force are not complaining about the proposed assessment and all the "kick" that is being made comes from policemen who spent their time and money to clect Leedy and now they do not like the idea of taking bread and butter out of the mouths of their families to carry on a local campaign. Some of the members of the force do no

THREE DAMAGE SUITS. Iwo Fall to the Share of the City and One to the Metropolitan Company.

Three damage suits were filed in the court of common pleas yesterday, two of which are against the city and one against the Metropolitan Street Railway Company. The suit against the Metropolitan was brought by Samuel S. Teaters, of Argentine. He alleges that on the afternoon of August 8 he, in company with his wife and little daughter, boarded one of the company's cars in Argentine to go to Budd park, in Kansas City, Mo. He claims that the conductor in charge of the car insulted his wife and that when he defended her the conductor summoned a policeman and had him taken off the car and held at No. 2 police station for nearly two hours, when he was released, there being no charge placed against him. He asks for $1.300 damages and 10 cents for the extra car fare which he was compelled to pay in order to reach the park.

Clara Bradley hopes to recover $10.000 damages from the city for injuries alleged to have been received from falling on a defective sidewalk. She alleges in her petition that on the evening of November 13, 1896, she was walking along Troup avenue, when a rotten plank in the walk gave way and caused her to fall with great violence. She claims that she was permanently injured.

Commissioners Are Mysterious.

Commissioners are Mysterious.

The police commissioners met in mysterious session last night, but if they did anything they refused to acknowledge it. The minutes of the meeting simply show that they met and adjourned until Saturday night, the regular meeting night. The board had a number of policemen "on the carpet," and it is understood that the "law" was interpreted to them in a very plain but forcible manner. A rumor gained circulation in the afternoon that a mild shaking up of the force was to take place but from all appearances the expected did not happen. The police department is playing a very prominent part in fusion politics this fall, and trouble has already started from this source.

retirement has not disagreed with him. His hair and mustache instead of being jet biack was snow white from the absence of dye, and he was dressed in a well titting suit of clothes.

Oliver's attorneys, as a preliminary, moved to quash the indictment, giving as a reason that dynamite was not a dendly weapon. This was overruled by Judge Foster, who decided that it was a deadly weapon when used for the purpose of attempting to kill some one. Following this decision Colonel A. J. Smith, former governor of the home, was placed upon the stand and gave his testimony. This did not materially differ from testimony given during the preliminary examination and occupied all the afternoon. Oliver's attorneys closely cross-examined the governor and when he appeared to dislike answering the question Oliver would say in an audible voice. "The witness is not telling the truth." The trial will be resumed this morning.

GIVES STRENGTH TO MEN.

FREE TO ALL WHO ARE WEAK AND WORN.

METHOD TO CURE AND INCREASE THE POWER.

It is a remarkable fact that a man never appreciates the sufferings of others until he himself has passed through the fire of pain or remorse. Then it is that he looks around for those who are suffering; he wants them to profit by his experience; he gives his time and money gladly for the benefit of others and never tires of his zeal. There are plenty of men weak and worn out, struggling with remorse and fear, the natural outcome of habits that brought incapacity; a sense of lonesomeness and a feeling as if the best side of life had been banished forever. Such men should write to Thomas Slater, box 554, Kalamazoo, Mich. He will send tree by mail, in a plain, sealed envelope full particulars about the method he used, and this will enable any man to get a complete cure at home. It is the method that Mr. Slater used to cure himself of the troubles that sap the strength and vigor and also enlarged his organs to natural size. The cure was so complete, so satisfying and such a wonderful change from his former condition that he will gladly tell others all about it, sending all particulars. He figures that he doesn't know of a better way to show his appreclation of his own cure and the sufferings of others. There must be generous men in this world to offset the tide of avarice. Write to Mr. Slater—it will cost nothing for his description and method.

FOR THE BLUE CUT ROBBERY

JOHN KENNEDY, ALLEGED LEADER, AGAIN ON TRIAL.

The State Outlines Its Side of the Case -Defense Intimates That "Manufactured" Testimony Is to Be Used in the Hearing.

All of the legal machinery is now in readiness for the taking of testimony in the second hearing of the case of John Kennedy, the alleged leader of the band of train robbers that halted the Chicago & Alton express train at the famous Blue cut, east of Independence, the night of December 3, 1896, and, after robbing the safe of the American Express Company and the train hands, cut the engine loose and, turning on the steam, sent it rumbling down the track without a hand at the throttle. The twelve men who are to decide the fate of Kennedy have been chosen the defense exercising its right to twenty challenges and the state to fifteen. The 120 witnesses have answered the subpoenas, the state has outlined its case to the jury and the attorneys for the defense have given an intimation of what they intend to introduce in the way of evidence favorable to their client. This is the first case that has come up in Jackson county since the law was passed making train robbery punishable by death, and as much interest promises to surround the second trial as the first one. At the outset one thing is clearly apparent. It is the theory of the attorneys for the defendant that the railroad detectives have woven a skein of "manufac-tured" evidence with which to trap their man.

"The trail of the serpent is clearly shown in their every movement," said Attorney Blake L. Woodson, one of the counsel for the defense, yesterday. "You will see the greatest hand-me-down case ever tried in this courtroom."

Blake L. Woodson, one of the counsel for the defense, yesterday. "You will see the greatest hand-me-down case ever tried in this courtroom."

On the other hand, the state never felt more confident of securing a conviction in any case than if does in the present one. The railroad attorneys, who were conspicuous in the first trial, are conspicuous only in the present trial by their absence. The names of the jurymen, their ages, occupations and residences, are as follows: C. A. Cooper, 25, farmer, Atherton; William A. Rice, 36, farmer, Lee's Summit; C. E. McGannon, 25, grocer, 2210 Grove street; Daniel Perdue, 46, farmer, Lee's Summit; Gerald Miles, 22, miller, with the Kansas City Milling Company: A. C. Wilkerson, 42, farmer, Lee's Summit; W. R. Shaw, 43, insurance agent, 1704 East Nineteenth; James Campbell, 25, farmer, Santa Fe; Fred A. Dixon, 38, janitor Woodmen lodge at 1016 Grand avenue; W. T. Johnson, 47, teamster for W. S. Chick; Plutarch Maloy, 45, employe of the Marsh Linseed Oil Company, 2009 Penn street; George Peck, 30, stationary engineer, 1716 Cherry street.

The jury is regarded by the state and the defense as an exceptionally intelligent one, and meets the approval of the attorneys for both sides of the case.

The taking of evidence will begin at 9 o'clock this morning, when the railroad employes who were on the train that was robbed; John Flynn, known as "the confessor;" his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Newton and the Van Horn and Woods boys will be placed upon the stand. The witnesses for the defense have been excused until Thursday at 9 o'clock, although it is not believed that the state will be ready for them by that time. The case will probably last into the middle of next week.

It was 3 o'clock when the jury filed into the jury box yesterday afternoon. Kennedy sat beside his attorneys, Messrs. Woodson and Cole, and scanned the faces of the jurymen critically.

"It's a good jury," he declared. "We will make these sleuth hounds and their pluggers wish they had never heard of a train robbery before we g

What the State Expects to Prove. Prosecutor Lowe, after reading the in dictment to the jury, outlined the facts that the state expects to prove. He described the robbery at famous Blue cut. The train had been stopped in the cut by the swinga ing of a red lantern.

"The state will show you that there were several men in this robbery, and that the defendant here was the leader," said the prosecutor. "The evidence will show that revolvers were held on the engineer and fireman, and that they were marched back down the train, where the express messenger, Mr. Freyer, was made to open the door of the express car and get down on the ground. Afterwards the express messenger was lifted into the car and two men—one of them the defendant—got into the car with him and robbed the safe. The state will show that the robbers were heavily armed, that they had masks and dynamite and a brace and bit. All of the trainmen will be able to identify Mr. Kennedy as the spokesman of the train robbers. There are numerous little incidents, such as the robbing of the conductor of $2$ and then returning him $1$ when he said that was all the money he had, that will come out in the evidence, which enabled the trainmen to get a good description of the robbers." prosecutor. "The evidence will show that

The prosecutor told how, after the robbers had completed their work, they cut loose the engine and let it run wild down the track to aid them in their escape. The prosecutor said that James Flynn, who had been jointly indicted with Kennedy, would tell the jury how the robbery had been planned by himself and Kennedy. On the day of the night of the robbery, the prosecutor said, Kennedy and Flynn met in Independence, where they had a number of drinks together in the saloons there. That night Flynn and Kennedy walked across the country to a railroad bridge, where they met two other parties.

"The state will not be able to prove who those two men were," admitted the prosecutor. ecutor.

Mr. Lowe then detailed the alleged man ecutor.

Mr. Lowe then detailed the alleged manner in which the money that had been secured from the express car had been divided between Kennedy and Flynn. He said that Flynn would tell how Kennedy had torn the ends off the packages of money and equally divided it; how the ends of two bills had been torn off and how, when Kennedy was arrested in Kansas City, the two bills with the torn ends were found in his possession. The testimony of Mrs. Flynn to show that Kennedy had returned to her home late the night of the robbery with her husband, the prosecutor said, would be introduced; how, when Mrs. Flyin remonstrated with her husband for being out so late at night, Kennedy spoke up and said, "Don't blame him; it was my fault." The prosecutor said that the state would be able to show that Kennedy came to Kansas City from Indexeders. that Kennedy came to Kansas City from Independence on the morning after the robbery. He seemed to "be flush with money." "In addition to this," said the prosecut-

will go to fill up the chinks in the story of the robbery and prove conclusively that Kennedy was the leader of the gang. To sum up, I wish to say that the main facts are that the robbery was committed at the time and place named in the indictment;
that Mr. Kennedy was there and was the leader of the robbery; that he went that night to Mr. Flynn's home; that he came to Kansas City the next day; that when he was arrested he had two bills torn as I have described. If we show that, I believe, gentlemen, that we will be entitled to a verdict. All the state desires to do is to make such a case as will warrant a to make such a case as will Defense Charges Conspiracy. Major Blake L. Woodson began the outline of the defense at 3:45.

"As already stated," said the major,

"there are two men under indictment-Kennedy and Flynn. We expect to show you that these men described by Mr. Lowe as doing the robbery were so masked that it was uterly impossible to recognize them. We expect to show you that after Mr. Kennedy's arrest he was taken direct to the Midland hotel, where, like the devil on the mountain, great promises were made. We will show that Mr. Flynn was taken from the bosom of his family at the dead of night and that he made a statement regarding the robbery, and we will show that afterwards he denied the facts set forth in the statement. We will show you that this man Flynn is utterly untrustworthy; that at the time he claims to have pendence, Mo.: we will show you how the railroad men differed at first over the description of the leader of the robber band, at part of them declaring that he was lame in the right, and how this man Flynn came in the right, and how this man Flynn came forward with the statement that Kennedy had lost his right too and was lame in the Midland hotel, where, like the devil

A THRILLING RESCUE.

A YOUNG LIFE SAVED IN A REMARKABLE MANNER.

Florence Sturdivant, of Grindstone Island, Saved From an Untimely Death-Her Dangerous Predicament.

From "On the St. Lawrence," Clayton, N. Y.

Among the Thousand Islands is one called Grindstone. It is seven miles long and three wide. The inhabitants of this island are a well informed class of people who devote their energies to farming and quarrying for a livelihood. In the home of one of these islanders resides Florence J. Sturdivant, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sturdivant. She had a remarkable experience recently.

In an interview with a reporter Mr. Sturdivant said: "Florence was taken sick in February, 1896, with scarlet fever and we immediately called a physician. After two weeks the fever subsided but Florence was left with a very weak back. Severe pains were constantly in the back and stomach. The difficulty seemed to baille the efforts of the physician.

The constant is a seven miles long and the inhabitants of this island ormed class of people who ergies to farming and quarnosis of our physician. He prescribed a course of treatment and we followed it faithfully for three months, but instead of improving. Florence failed.

"A brother of my wife, who resided in Canada, but was visiting us, advised us to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I purchased a box of the pills and began to give them to Florence. This was in October, 1898. After using the pills and short time we could see an improvement. Her strength began to return and her appetite was restored. When she had taken one box the pains in her back and stomach ceased and her recovery seemed certain.

"We eagerly purchased a second box of the pains in her back and stomach ceased and her recovery seemed certain.

"We eagerly purchased a second box of pills and watched with delight the change for the better that was being wrought daily. Florence finally became strong enough to walk a little. She gained in flesh and strength rapidly. By the time she had used three boxes of the pills she was evidently well. We continued the treatment using another box, the fourth, to prevent the possibility of a recurrence of the difficulty.

"We cannot praise too highly the value." "We cannot praise too highly the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I am positive that without their use our child would have been a confirmed invalid." (Signed) WILLIAM H. STURDIVANT. Subscribed and sworn to before me this sixth day of April, 1897.

NO DIVORCES IN ITALY. he Reason Seems to Be Chiefly on Account of the Opposition of the Catholic Church. Divorce as yet does not exist in Italy. It has in that country many violent partisans, and even more violent opponents, chiefly because it is contrary to the doc-that foot and how the railroad men then decided that that was the foot he was lame in. We will show you that the man Flynn is utterly unreliable. The testimony will show you that a certain young lady (Miss Raiston) in this county claimed to have received a confession from Kennedy regarding the robbery. I want to say to you that we will show that this testimony is absolutely false."

Major Woodson said that the testimony would show that Kennedy was in Kansas City all night the night of the robbery. "The testimony will show that the fabric of evidence of the state." declared Major Woodson, with emphasis. "is a cleverly woven and shrewdly concocted plan of convicting this man of a crime he did not commit. I say to you, gentlemen, that these people, male and female, who have said that Kennedy was the leader of the robber band, found it to their interest to say so. We will show you that Kennedy came to Kansas City from Texas, where he was enployed, with something near $1.000 in his pockets, to spend his vacation. We will show you that this testimony is made and shaped so that certain detectives may retain their places in the services of the railroad company. We believe that this jury will not be ten minutes in its jury-room before it returns a verdict of not trines of the Catholic church. ization of divorce would not seem to be of so great urgency as is represented by its partisans, if one may judge by the statistics of separations. Separation is admitted by Italian law, and consists, more than anything else, in separate habitation, as a husband, even if living apart from his wife, is obliged to support her according to his finanelal means.

The entire number of demands for separation last year was 1,711—that is, a proportion of 5.91 for every 100,090 inhabitants, of these 1,642 were adjudicated upon, while the remainder are still subjudice. Of those settled 482 were presented by mutual consent, and of these twenty were abandoned before trial, while of the 1,189 presented by one of the parties, 881 were withdrawn, and of the remainder 288 were granted and 31 dismissed. In all 228 separations were allowed in the year, the proportion to the number of marriages being 3.14 to every 1,000 marriages celebrated in the year, and 1.25 to every 10,000 married couples in Italy. The greater number of the separations are in the north, which seems to prove that the greater the dissension. With regard to the reasons for separation, in 46i cases it was incompatibility of temper; in 189 violence, generally on the part of the husband; in 45 infidelity (imputable in 29 cases to the wife); in 28 desertion (in 17 instances by the husband). In one case the husband had become a criminal, and in another had refused to provide a residence in proportion to his means, which is recognized by the Italian law as sufficient reason for separation. Of these separations of the year 1896, 348 were couples without offspring and 380 with, which goes to prove that if it were not for the link supplied by children, there would be—who can tell how many—more broken up homes in this country. Judge Wofford then instructed the jury regarding its conduct while in the custody of the marshal, warning the members to not discuss the case with each other, to refrain from reading the newspapers which contain accounts of the case and to permit no one to discuss the case in their presence. He impressed upon the jurymen the fact that the statements of the attorneys were not evidence and that it was their sworn duty to consider only the evidence and make up their minds from that. The jury will not be allowed to separate until after a verdict has been reached, or until they are discharged because they are unable to agree upon a verdict.

ing the summer Mrs. Dawson more than once said:

"I want to go home this summer if I can, but I'll have to be respectable if I go," always adding. "It's seven years since I've seen any of them."

A few people understood that she was the daughter of an aristocratic family that had cast her off. In spite of the urging of friends she did not go to her own home during the summer, and she was obliged to find a new residence. This was a fortnight ago.

to find a new residence. This was a fortnight ago.

When she was taken ill the doctor who was called said her illness was due to morphine poisoning. He sent her to Bellevue. The hospital physicians saw the case was serious. The colored servant and Mrs. Ray, who had lived with Miss Helm, admitted when they discovered how serious her condition was, that she belonged to the Helm family of Kentucky, and was related to the late Governor Helm. This created excitement among the Southerners in New York, who all know of the Helms, and many Kentuckians endeavored to see the girl before her death.
